OBJECTIVE

As a final-year Computer Science student, I thrive at the intersection of Software development and cloud technologies. My journey with Java Programming— that equipped me to build robust applications, while my certifications in Azure, AWS, and GitHub reflect my commitment to continuous learning. Through hands-on projects and Google Cloud challenges, I've cultivated both technical depth and a problem solving mindset. Now, I'm excited to bring this blend of skills and curiosity to a team that values innovation and impact.
